We specialize in custom systems that optimize the performance of the entire electric motor driven powertrain. It all begins by asking "WHY."

When you tell HECO you're having an equipment problem, we want to find out why it happened in the first place – then we can properly explore how to prevent it from happening again. Its that simple.

HECO manages over 100,000 of various equipment for clients throughout the USA. Each program is custom; but many have similar components, such as:
